Meet Jean MacAllister

by Jane B.

One of the beliefs of the new Pilgrims in today's struggle to restore our Forefather's values to America and to keep our freedoms is that each patriot must become better informed. Jean MacAllister, with her almost daily blogs about national activities and warnings of liberals disregarding our constitution, is certainly helping Team Sarah members do just that.

Jean lives in New York, one of our nation's most deeply entrenched liberal strongholds. But this has not stopped Jean from speaking out to promote her conservative beliefs or against liberal, socialistic attacks on our freedoms. She has had 15 Letters to the Editors printed in local newspapers on subjects such as abortion, homosexuality, and Obama's eligibility to be President of the United States.

About 15 years ago, Jean became interested in the political arena when she began cruising the internet and realized just what was going on in our nation's capital. Her main interests include being Pro-Life and anti-socialist. However, Jean does not just surf the internet for information, she has also built a personal library which includes such books as Reveille for Radicals by Saul D. Alinsky, The Shadow Party by David Horowitz and Richard Poe, The Audacity of Deceit by Brad O'Leary, None Dare Call It Treason-25 Years Later and None Dare Call It Education, both by John A. Stormer.

After watching Fox News one night in 2008, Jean found her internet home here on Team Sarah. She has a definite philosophy about how to write effective blogs:

The key is to keep it short and wind up with a bang. I told my son I like to "pith", as in Bill O'Reilly's "keep it pithy." Some years ago, I took a speaking course. You tell your audience what you are going to tell them. Then you tell them. Then you tell them what you just told them. I still have the pen given me as best speaker at one of the meetings.

She certainly follows this philosophy well in her many informative blogs. Jean uses the internet extensively to research her blogs, visiting websites such as the Library of Congress THOMAS site, which gives information and text of all federal bills, amendments, and laws; United States Senate website; Finding Dulcinea, which is a guide to the internet; The Hill; and Fox Nation. Jean is careful, however, when visiting new websites; she has anti-virus, firewalls, and ad blockers on her computer, as well as an AVG Internet Security application, which gives a warning if any website or file is infected with a virus, in her browser's toolbar.

When asked about her views on Sarah Palin, Jean responded:

I support Sarah Palin because she is a person of integrity and honor, and upholds true moral values. She is intent on making herself knowledgeable in foreign affairs and politics. Sarah Palin would make a fine president, judging how she handled her terms in various political offices as well as her executive experience.
